2024-2025 SEASON

Dear Theatre Lover,

We have been so grateful to share our beautiful work with the Colorado Spring community! Patrons like you enabled us to cast 100% of our 2023-24 productions with Colorado-based actors! You've got love for the arts and we've got love for you so: Join us for our next season of incredible artistic work, featuring all Colorado-based directors!

In the 2024-2025 Season you can look forward to:

- Henry IV & V (9/20/24-10/13/24) "Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown." Max Shulman (An Illiad) directs a sweeping production of Shakespeare's multi-part saga chronicling the meteoric rise of King Henry V.
- Sense & Sensibility (11/29/24-12/22/24) Caitlin Lowans directs this Regency romp by the playwright of 2023's beloved Little Women - with a promise to bring all the heart and humor of the original to the stage just in time for the holidays!
- Heart Sellers (1/31/25-2/16/25) Centered on Luna and Jane, immigrants from the Phillipines and Korea, Jenna Moll Reyes (Twelfth Night) directs the Colorado premiere of this poignant, charming new play exploring connection across barriers and against all odds.
- Turn of the Screw (3/14/25-4/6/25) Kristin Skye Hoffman directs this classic Henry James tale of an isolated manor, an unsuspecting governess, her two enigmatic young charges and the secrets that lurk around every corner. Buckle up for a close encounter with one of the best ghost stories ever written!
- Silent Sky (5/2/25-5/25/25) Learn the true story of an overlooked astronomical pioneer, as told by Lauren Gunderson (playwright of 2023's inspiring Half-Life of Marie Curie) and be reminded what we gain by keeping our sights set on the stars.
- Flyin' West (7/11/25-7/27/25) Marisa Hébert (Every Brilliant Thing and King Hedley) directs this play, riffing on Western melodrama, by essential American playwright, Pearl Cleage. Join the homesteading Dove sisters in 1890s Kansas as they contend with outsiders interested in buying up their beloved all-Black town.
